

SELF-LEADERSHIP-DAYS

Virtual Live Workshop

Building Trust with Stakeholders

Uncertainty drives us to seek stability. We seek it in people who demonstrate integrity and competence. We seek people who are trustworthy. Trust is the foundation of all our interactions. We underestimate how much trust (or the lack of it) colours and influences the quality of every decision and transaction we make - and with whom we make these decisions.

Join this workshop to discover what defines trust in organizations, how it can be built and how you personally can consolidate it with your key stakeholder relationships.
